GPS & TAD

In order to provide the Courts with options for increased public safety and mitigating the risk of flight, CJS choose to provide Global Positioning System (GPS) as well as Transdermal Alcohol Detector (TAD) monitoring. CJS installs the units and enforces the defendant's compliance on a 7 day, 24 hour basis.

All stakeholders agreed that GPS would only be utilized as the last alternative to incarceration. In other words, if not for GPS then the defendant would be incarcerated. Any day a defendant spends on GPS is a direct one to one savings on jail space and costs.

GPS allows for monitoring of a defendant's whereabouts 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. GPS allows CJS to enforce stay away zones and inclusion zones. If a Court orders a defendant not to go within a certain distance to a victim's residence, work, school, etc., then CJS can track the defendant's location and ensure that if the defendant enters a stay away zone, then a warrant of arrest will be issued. If the Court orders the defendant to reside at a certain location or establishes a curfew, then CJS has the ability to accurately enforce the Court's order.

TAD is utilized to monitor a defendant's consumption of alcohol. If a Court orders a defendant not to consume alcohol, CJS can accurately enforce the Court's order.
